GLOBAL

- Business activity in the Eurozone dropped in August. The purchasing managers' index (PMI) Composite slipped to 59.5 in the month, just under the strong 60.2 figure given in July. It was explained in part by some business concern over the effects of the delta variant of the coronavirus, but especially by demand outstripping supply as activity bounced back vigorously in the 19-nation Eurozone.
- Germany's export to China declined by 3.9% (YoY) to 8.4 billion euros or around USD9.9 billion. It is the first decline in exports to China, Germany's second biggest sales market outside the European Union, and it was the biggest slump since May 2020, when the world was gripped in the first wave of the coronavirus pandemic. Meanwhile, exports to the United States grew by 15.3% (YoY) to 10.8 billion euros.

DOMESTIC

- Liquidity or broad money (M2) in July 2021 was maintained. The position of M2 in the month was IDR7,149 trillion or grew 8.9% (YoY). The growth is affected by Net Foreign Assets and credit channeling. Net Foreign Assets grew 4.3% (YoY), while credit channeling grew 0.3% (YoY).

COMMODITIES

- Brent futures rose 3.4% to USD71.05 while West Texas Intermediate futures gained 2.9% to USD67.54 (8/24). World oil prices rose around 3% on Tuesday as full U.S. regulatory approval of the Pfizer/BioNTech for Covid-19 and China's apparent success in fighting the delta variant of the coronavirus boosted demand sentiment. Also supporting oil prices, a fire on an oil platform off Mexico on Sunday has cut state-run Pemex's oil production by about 25%.
- Indonesia had planned to increase bio-content in its palm oil-based biodiesel to 40% in July this year. However, the plan may face further delays after the high price of the vegetable oil. Malaysian palm oil futures have been trading around 4,300 ringgit recently, about 60% higher than a year earlier. If the price stayed constant, mixing 40% Fatty Acid Methyl Ester (FAME) for B40 would require around IDR60 trillion (USD4.16 billion), while adopting B40 would likely boost palm oil prices by shrinking global supply, making the program too costly.

STOCKS

- The Jakarta Composite Index weakened 0.33% to 6,089.50 on Tuesday. The country's equities fell as investors kept a cautious stance after the government extended its fiscal deficit financing arrangement with Bank Indonesia. BI would buy bonds to finance Covid-19 relief measures. The return of "burden sharing" is likely to reignite medium-term concerns about BI's independence.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

- U.S. Dollar index that tracks the greenback against a basket of other currencies rose 0.08% to 92.903 (8/26). The dollar was up on Thursday morning in Asia after The FDA had approved the Pfizer Inc/BioNTech SE Covid-19 vaccine earlier in the week, and it improved investors sentiment. However, it remained near a one-week low as concerns over Covid-19's impact on the global economic recovery receded.

YIELD

- 10-year government bond yields down to 6.17% on Friday (8/27) from 6.37% on Friday (8/20) in the midst of the development of Covid-19 in Indonesia which is getting better. The development of Covid-19 has shown a downward trend in the last few weeks by implementing the Enforcement of Restrictions on Community Activities (PPKM). This is in line with the government's ongoing vaccination program to prevent the spread of Covid-19. This is reflected in data from the Indonesia Composite Bond Index (ICBI) which showed an upward trend at the level of 326.96 (8/26) or an increase of 0.07% on the previous day. In addition, Bank Indonesia (BI) noted that foreign capital inflows into the Indonesian financial market amounted to IDR7.67 trillion in the period 23-26 August 2021. This foreign capital inflow consisted of investments into state securities (SBN) of IDR7.18 trillion and shares of IDR0.49 trillion. Meanwhile, the risk premium for investment, namely the five-year Indonesian Credit Default Swaps (CDS) indicator, declined to a level of 71.18 basis points (bps) on August 26, 2021 from 72.67 bps on August 20, 2021.
- On Friday (8/27) the 10-year U.S. treasury yield up to 1.34% from 1.24% on Friday (8/20) amid caution ahead of the Jackson Hole symposium. The Jackson Hole symposium will take place on Friday (27/8) evening Indonesian time, which will be attended by central bankers from around the world to discuss the monetary policies of each country. In this event, Fed Chair Jerome Powell will deliver a speech entitled "The Economic Outlook" whose contents are expected to allude to the US$120 billion monthly bond purchase program that the Fed has been running so far. Investors will be watching Fed Chair Jerome Powell's speech when he will start rolling out the tapering program.
